Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Vagedes (5,526,619), in view of Van Meter (D 346,432).

3. Regarding Claim 1 and 6, Vagedes teaches a trim unit for a faucet comprising a base (Fig. 2) and a ring (Fig. 3); wherein said base has a nailing flange (40), a back wall (39), and a first wall (50) extending up from said base and said back wall defining a hole to permit passage of a water pipe; wherein said ring is adapted to snap onto said first wall.

Van Meter teaches an insulated housing having an inner area (Fig 7) and an associated insulated cover.

4. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention was made to have modified Vagedes' trim with Van Meter's insulated housing to create a more protective structure.

5. Regarding claims 2-5, and 7-9 Vagedes teaches a trim unit, wherein the ring (Fig. 3) fits within the first wall.

Van Meter teaches an insulated housing (cover) witch can be adapted to snap onto an interior surface of said ring and therefore would be attached to an interior surface and exterior edge of said ring, witch would be attached to said first wall.

Art Unit: 3609

6. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention was made to have modified Vagedes' trim with Van Meter's insulated housing to create a more protective structure.
